

A novel and green mobile laboratory for infectious disease response

The mobile lab uses a One Health approach, linking human, animal, and environmental health.

The BSL-3 lab allows rapid onsite testing during outbreaks for early detection and disease control. With solar panels, it aims to be energy-efficient and environmentally friendly.

